DISTRICT UPDATES

Here are some photos from the District PAC meeting.

The MCB Burke Complex students are participating in Computer Science Week by taking on the job of programmers! Our students, along with 14 million students from around the world, are all coding through the web site: code.org for the Hour of Code.

Students have used code to program the Angry Bird to catch the Green Pig using visual blocks such as directional signals North, South, East, & West and Loops for the repetition of steps. Other activities on code.org include: Kodables, Minecraft,

HOOKS UPDATES

On Tuesday, December 6, 2016, 77 Hooks School students were honored for their achievement in the 2016 PARCC assessment. The entire Hooks School community celebrated this event as we continue to maintain our Level 1 status. In addition, we have been designated as a Commendation School.

KELLY UPDATES

Ediberto Carmenatty hosted the Kelly School Coffee hour this past week and it was well received! Thirty-five parents attended the coffee hour which focused on how parents can help their children with homework. Parents stayed afterwards to express their gratitude on how well the workshop was run and were very pleased to have Ms. Sanchez-Gleason available to answer questions.

CAMS UPDATES

In art class, creative CAMS students have been working on papier mache projects as well as unique exams involving sketching, designing, and building objects. In addition, we are busy packing up our school, and are very excited about our move to the new building in January!

The Clark Avenue Middle School National Junior Honor Society and their teacher-advisors organized a school-wide food drive for the food pantry at Saint Luke's/San Lucas. This has been a multi-year school-community partnership. We have amazing teachers and students here in Chelsea!
